MARRIED TO A MORNING / image by Amalie Flynn

For twenty years I have been married to a morning. Of blue sky that stretches and pulls across me like water filling up a suburban swimming pool. The pit that formed a hole. The bodies falling down as if bloodless dolls instead of kneecaps and muscle shins and thighs hot fingers letting go of metal or chests and ribs an artery that runs down the length of a leg like a hose cheeks that hold in teeth and tongues jaw and soft palates or a brain inside of a skull. How the sky was full of bodies so many falling thoughts fell down or how the word land crashes and breaks breaks and breaks apart on impact. How the day still drowns me.

Today my husband is crouched in our garden calves flexed. Today I reach out and I run my fingers across broad fields of skin between the shoulders. Shoulders of my two sons. And I know.

How I know beneath.

We are bones.
